WELCOME TO THE TEACHERS COMMUNITY!

Welcome to the Teachers' Community of Practice! The community helps you to network with other teachers participating in the Amgen Science Teacher Training Initiative, to take part in online debates, and to support your face-to-face training. Get involved and participate in the Teachers' Community to share good practices, exchange experiences and ideas, and to learn from one another.

This Community is only for teachers who are participating in the Amgen Science Training Initiative. In order to post to the forum, edit the wiki or upload files you should be a registered member. To create your account, please click here. Once you have created your account you can log in on the Sign In box here on the left. The content is available only to the members of this private community.

Once you are registered and have your password, you can login and add information about yourself - and don't forget a photo!

To edit your profile, choose "My account" on the menu in the upper right-hand corner.
